Miscellaneous

The winter issue of the Agricultural Bulletin, issued by the Agricultural Department of the A. & W. P. R.R., the Western Railway of Alabama and the Georgia R.R., carried a lengthy article on Colored Farm Demonstration Work in Baldwin County, Georgia, and the Waycross section of the Savannah Morning News, has carried two stories this month on some accomplishments of Negro Extension Work in Ware County.

A two weeks' Annual Short Course for the Farm and Home Demonstration Agents began on the 28th of January at the Georgia State Industrial College.

Boys' Club Work

During January, the Agents have been busy with their club enrollment work with special emphasis on securing new members. 1,240 boys have enrolled.

The goal this year is 3,000 club members with a 75 per cent completion.

The following extracts are taken from the Agents' January reports:

Chatham County: B. S. Adams, Agent, reported: "Ten visits made to schools to enroll boys and to get them interested and started in this year's club work. All of these schools have had clubs before, but it was a matter of re-organizing and getting up new interest. Seven clubs were re-organized and presented programs. There were 148 boys in these meetings. Six of these clubs were corn clubs and one garden club. Plans are being made to organize one poultry club through one of the schools at Thunderbolt. The teacher here has a demonstration in poultry and is very anxious to line his boys up and have them furnished with eggs for setting from the College farm. He will be the community leader in this project."

Dougherty County: Wm. R. King, Agent, reported: "Twenty-eight club members have been enrolled in club work and contracts prepared and signed by boys' parents or guardian for cotton and corn. Five pure bred pigs distributed and an order placed for two others. One setting of eggs placed with poultry club member. One conference held with supply merchant who has promised to supply club members on notes this year."

Liberty County: Jas. C. Ralston, Agent, reported: "Club members enrolled 200; clubs organized, 12. Most of the boys in these clubs

One conference held with supply merchant who has promised to supply club members on notes this year."

Liberty County: J. A. O. Ralston, Agent, reported: "Club members enrolled 230; clubs organized, 12. Most of the boys in these clubs have lined up for the different project phases, such as, corn, cotton, sweet potato, poultry and pig. Ten leaders secured in poultry and corn projects. The club members show unusual interest in the clubs this year. We accept this as a hopeful sign relative to the success of junior club work for 1929."

Peach-Houston Counties: O. S. O'Neal, Agent, reported: "Fifteen club boys have planted their wheat and it is up and looking fine. Held field meeting on one plat and brought out the importance of planting wheat and the plans to get a good stand. To date, three new clubs have been organized; have trained a team of club boys to give a demonstration in killing hogs and the curing of meats. Re-organized ten clubs, which are beginning work for the new year".

Randolph County: J. P. Powell, Agent, reported: "Six demonstrations were conducted in the home vegetable garden in the preparation of the seed bed, reaching twenty homes and farmers. As a result of these demonstrations, and on visiting one of my club boys, Iverson White, a few days ago, I found him conducting a demonstration in the garden at the home of one of his neighbors."

Sumter County: E. Stallworth, Agent, reported: "Trained three teams in judging corn, hogs, and poultry. One meeting for the purpose of re-organizing club boys was held. Held one health meeting and gave health talks in each of the six rural schools visited."

Ware-Pierce Counties: Alexander Hurse, Agent, reported: "Seven club meetings were held during the month where club members were instructed along the lines of their demonstrations. All club members are very enthusiastic over their club work."

"Pig Clubs: Two pure bred spotted Poland China pigs were bought this month for club boys. Seventeen boys have their pigs with ten of them being pure bred pigs, costing one hundred dollars."

Washington County: T. W. Brown, Agent, reported: "Thirty-five club members were enrolled for 1929."
